Airlines insist on 6-mo lead time for Naia 3

By Philip Salas

THE AIRLINE OPERATORS of Manila's new international airport insist that the 60-month advance opening of the Third Terminal, Terminal 3, at Naia International Airport, Manila, must not be used as a pretext to delay the airport's expansion to the New Manila 3.

At the Philippine Airline Association (PAA) conference, after reviewing the foreign carriers operating at the New Manila 3, the airlines insisted that the airport's expansion to the New Manila 3.

"We are not aware of the fact that the airport's expansion is being delayed by the airlines," the PAA president, Antonio P. Pineda, said. "The airlines are not aware of the fact that the airport's expansion is being delayed by the airlines."

The PAA president also said that the airlines are not aware of the fact that the airport's expansion is being delayed by the airlines. He said that the airlines are not aware of the fact that the airport's expansion is being delayed by the airlines.

Most commercial airlines have agreed to the airport's expansion to the New Manila 3.

Manila's new international airport, which is currently in the process of being built, is expected to be completed by 2003. The airport's expansion to the New Manila 3 is expected to be completed by 2003.

1. The first step is to identify the key components of the system. This includes understanding the hardware, software, and network architecture.

Detailed description of Figure 1: The graph plots the rate of polymerization, R_p , against the concentration of the inhibitor, C_i . The y-axis (R_p) has major ticks at 0, 0.5, and 1.0. The x-axis (C_i) has major ticks at 0, 0.5, and 1.0. A smooth curve starts at the point (0, 1.0) and decreases monotonically. At $C_i = 0.5$, the value of R_p is approximately 0.67. At $C_i = 1.0$, the value of R_p is approximately 0.5. The curve represents the equation $R_p = \frac{1}{1+C_i}$.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup. A participant is seated at a table, looking at a screen. On the screen, there is a starting point (a large circle) and a target (a small circle). The distance between them is labeled 'Distance'. The participant's hand is at the starting point, labeled 'Hand'.

Church shares blame for poverty

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND has been accused of sharing the blame for poverty in the Third World. The accusation is made in a report by the World Council of Churches (WCC) which says that the church has been too concerned with its own interests and has not done enough to help the poor.

The report, which was published in 1982, says that the church has been too concerned with its own interests and has not done enough to help the poor. It says that the church has been too concerned with its own interests and has not done enough to help the poor.

Also, the members of the Chamber of Automotive Manufacturers of the Philippines, Incorporated (CAAP), the Philippine Automotive Association (PAA), the Philippine Industry Workers Alliance (PIWA) and the Motor Vehicle Parts Manufacturers Association of the Philippines, Incorporated (MYPPAMP), composed of 35,000 suppliers, retailers and servicing centers, are going to stand against unethical smuggling and the transportation of goods from outside into the country.

Several dissenters made their views known during deliberations. But the majority of those who spoke out were against the bill. This clearly indicates serious opposition to any attempt to restrict the First Amendment, which has been the cornerstone of American democracy since the President's heated argument for nationwide security under Executive Order 11652, and his recent proclamation calling for the enactment of a law that will strengthen the effectiveness of past anti-Communist legislation.

Dr. Branson, DENT, FLEM, GREEN and GUYTON share in your opinion that "None of these should not be allowed to take or complete the treatment they have accepted, regardless, for reasons to the great detriment of my people."

He joins you to your significance, along with the many other Filipinos, who only wish to protect economic progress in the country. He stands by his faith in God and government that there are still morally upright individuals in public service. He, too, willing to fight for what is right and doing what has to be done to protect his country from those who are looking only after their self-interest.

Buyers revive interest in smaller vehicles as fuel costs rise

As fuel prices continue to climb, car buyers are turning back to smaller, more fuel-efficient vehicles. This trend is particularly evident in the compact and subcompact segments, where sales have seen a significant uptick. Industry analysts predict that this shift will continue as consumers seek to save on gas expenses.

Tremendous powers are locked in human brains

DR. WILLIAM JAMES, considered the father of modern psychology, pointed out that "the average human being uses only 10 percent of his mental capacity."

He was probably being generous when he said that because, for me, the average human being uses only 1 percent of his mental capacity. The human mind knows no limits aside from those it accepts.

If highly advanced and intelligent creatures from other spaces were to report on their observation of human beings on Planet Earth over a period of thousands of years, they would most likely say, "That earthlings are shunting their powers. You have tremendous powers locked inside your brains, but you are not using them. You allow these powers to be idle and go to waste."

Throughout the long history of humans, we find individuals with almost supernatural powers. Thus, they were often regarded as gods. We now think of them as existing only in myths, that they are not real persons.

But this is only because we have put limitations on what the human mind is capable of doing. I have a strong skepticism the stories of such beings are based on real people who actually lived in some distant past.

First humans

In the Christian Bible, the story is told of the first human beings, Adam and Eve. Endowed by God with supernatural powers, they lived in an ideal and beautiful place called Eden or Paradise. However, because they disobeyed God, as the story goes, they were driven out of Eden and stripped of their supernatural powers.

Apparently some people have regained or developed such powers.

For example, Uri Geller, a famous Israeli parapsychologist and entertainer, can bend metal objects, coins and keys with his mind through telekinesis. He is also able to accelerate the biological process and make radish seeds sprout within minutes using only his mind. I saw him do this in Dusseldorf, Germany, in 1994.

An Austrian psychic can see the internal organs of a person and diagnose illness accurately by merely looking at the subject with his naked eyes without using any instruments. A year ago I met a 12-year-old Filipino from the Ilocos Region who could see objects behind a wooden wall. Only recently he was able to make a mobile phone SIM (subscriber identity module) card that he received in such a spot in his hand.

Our Filipino shamans can open up the human body with their bare hands, take out diseased tissues, tumors, and close the incision without a trace of the wound or ail. None of the time, there is no real opening. They are able to materialize internal diseased tissues outside the body.

A 70-year-old female Korean shaman can walk barefooted on two razor sharp blades while in a trance without getting hurt and to diagnose illness and tell the future of specific persons in the audience.

I witnessed this myself in Korea during an Asian Traditional Arts Festival where I was one of several international resource speakers.

Why only a few

I can go on and on on astonishing extraordinary powers displayed by certain individuals in many parts of the world. The question is how come only a few possess such tremendous powers?

I believe the answer is that most people do not bother to develop them. In the first place, very few believe such powers even exist. The greater portion of the human population, according to one myth, is asleep. Another said they were in a state of deep hypnosis. We have been hypnotized to believe we cannot do these extraordinary things.

INNER AWARENESS

Jaime T. Limaco

People consistently attributed such powers only to God. No human being dared attempt to develop or possess them as they would be usurping God's powers. This actually created so much limitation to us. We accepted such ideas without really questioning their validity.

But one man astonished the whole world by performing deeds no ordinary human being had done before. He healed all sorts of illness, guided the blind with amazing accuracy, read peoples' minds, changed water into wine, raised the dead, walked on water and even raised himself from the dead.

And yet, that man, which all Christians considered to be God, Jesus Christ himself, said in John 14:12: "The works I have done you can do, and much more than these."

And what he tried to open up the minds of people to this amazing reality, they killed him.
